

Requested Zoom-In Round Table Discussions

Since delineating useful Principles requires a consensus, Round Table Discussions are collaborative to incorporate Perspectives other than our own. A Round Table requires 3–12 participants. You can solicit your friends/acquaintances/classmates — and/or we will solicit our mailing list.

“We are here to assist!”

There are Five Types of Discussion Topics

- 1) Context: Where the Whole is greater than the sum of its Parts.
- 2) Concepts: Relationships are more important than Details.
- 3) Physical Systems: That influence response.
- 4) Societal Systems: That influence Perspectives that result from Experience.
- 5) Emotions: That result from Feelings (PTSD: Military vs. Civilian vs. Student)
